The Faculty of Natural Sciences III of the Martin Luther University Halle-Wittenberg invites applications for a

W1 Junior Professorship (m/f/d) „eHumanities“ (tenure track)

The position, located at the Institute of Computer Science, is to be filled as soon as possible.

Our new colleague should be a distinguished researcher with a research focus on the development and application of IT-tools that support scientists working on appropriate research problems in the Humanities. Teaching and research of the new colleague should strengthen the “Computer Science in the Humanities” field that is currently being developed at the Institute for Computer Science. The candidate should have practical experience in cooperations with humanists from different fields (e.g., history, archaeology, philology, sociology).

We expect the candidate to have experience in teaching and research in computer science fields relevant for the Digital Humanities, e.g., modern web-technologies, usability/user experience of web-applications, data visualization, 3D-modelling and visualization, virtualization of museums, automatic transcription of hand-written manuscripts, analysis of huge text corpora or/and machine learning. The new colleague should also be qualified to participate in teaching of undergraduate courses in computer science.

Applicants must fulfill the requirements of being appointed according to Section 40 of the Higher Education Act of the State of Saxony-Anhalt (HSG LSA). The holder of the position will also be expected to perform the duties mentioned in Section 34 of HSG LSA.

According to Section 41(1) HSG LSA, junior professorships are initially filled for a period of three years. After a positive interim evaluation, there is a possibility to renew for up to another three years. In the case of a positive final evaluation, and if the corresponding other prerequisites have been met, an appointment to a permanent W2 Professorship is envisaged in compliance with Section 36 (3) Sentence 4 HSG LSA.

With the announcement of the Junior Professorship the Martin Luther University has the aim to follow-up with an excellent perspective to help achieve, at an early stage, an independent career and to offer long-term career perspective. The candidate should normally have had a maximum of 6 years at a university or higher education college and the total time of the previous employment may not exceed that allowed by the Scientific Time Limit Contract Law (WissZeitVG).

As an employer, Martin Luther University is guided by the principle of equal opportunities and aims to increase the number of female faculty members. We explicitly invite applications by qualified female candidates. The university is committed to providing all of its staff members with good opportunities to combine professional work and family obligations.

Applicants by handicapped persons are preferentially considered, given equal qualifications and competence.

Please send your complete application (curriculum vitae, certificates, data sheet with your academic career, list of your publications, list of past and current third-party funded projects, summary of teaching activities, possibly research and teaching concepts) as a printed copy and also in digital form (one integral PDF-document) no later than February 10th 2020 to the following address:

Martin-Luther-Universität Halle-Wittenberg, Naturwissenschaftliche Fakultät III, Dekan Prof. Dr. Matthias Müller-Hannemann, 06099 Halle/Saale.

E-mail: dekanat@natfak3.uni-halle.de

Please include both your business and private addresses.

Salary will be paid in accordance with legal and budgetary requirements. The Martin Luther University regrets that it is unable to reimburse applicants for the expenses incurred in applying for this position.
